

INTERMOUNTAIN TESOL

September 28-29, 2018
at The University of Utah

Call for Proposals

Theme: The Many Hats We Wear

Today's English teachers have to do more than teach and prepare lessons. Language teachers are researchers, trainers, psychologists, advocates, managers, motivators, volunteers, mentors, nurses, secretaries, events coordinators, photographers, and mediators.

Take on the hat of presenter and share your expertise with us at ITESOL conference 2018.

Featured Speakers:

Dr. David Parker is an educator, consultant, motivational artist and successful children's book author. Dr. Parker presents energizing and transformative workshops focusing on improving the culture and climate of organizations, agencies and companies. He focuses on the impact implicit bias has on perception, behavior and policy.

Dr. Scott Jarvis holds a PhD in Linguistics from Indiana University. His research interests include: Crosslinguistic Transfer, Forensic Linguistics, Second Language Acquisition, and lexical diversity. Scott was a professor at Ohio University (19 years) and is currently the department chair at the University of Utah.

SUBMIT ONLINE

itesol.org

August 1-31

Poster (90 mins)

Teaching/research (45 mins)

Workshop (90 mins)

Teaching Tip (20 mins)

Special Interest Sections:

K-12 / Bilingual Ed

Adult Education

Higher Ed / Applied Linguistics